

Seminar on Election Monitoring and Advocacy

On March 28-29, 2008 International Seminar on "Election Monitoring and Advocacy" will be held in Ulaanbaatar, Mongolia. Executive Director of International Society for Fair Elections and Democracy, Ekaterine Siradze-Delaunay will participate in an International Seminar. Participants are invited to share their views, experiences and best practices. ISFED Executive Director Ekaterine Siradze-Delaunay will make a presentation on Voters' Lists.

The International Seminar is intended to bring together civic activists, NGOs and other civil society groups engaged in election monitoring and advocacy to share best practices, methodologies and tools and advocacy strategies based on monitoring results.

Purpose of the International Seminar is to facilitate a broad exchange of experiences, best practices in election monitoring across Europe and Asia, specifically to strengthen capacity of non-governmental organizations in Mongolia, to broaden their perspectives with regard to election monitoring. The long term goal of the project is to contribute toward building a network of election monitors across regions through exchange of ideas, experiences, knowledge and lessons learnt.
